

An Introductory Guide To The Station Square Ristorante Wine List

Featuring over 425 wines from 11 Countries!
6 Time Winner Of the Wine Spectator Award of Excellence

Adam Zagotti, Sommelier

Station Square is committed to bringing the finest wines available from as many countries as we can to you to compliment your dining experience. The following paragraphs are intended to help you select the best wine for your meal. Our wines are arranged by varietal (grape), region, and country of origin. As a wine professional, I strive to bring the finest value wines at all price points to you. In this list you will find wines from everyday drinking values of low cost and high quality up to the finest collection of American Cabernets, First Growth Bordeaux wines, classic Italian wines, and a host of other top-notch options. Wine Spectator not only awards Station Square their prestigious Award of Excellence, but also special recognition for our low prices.

How Good is a Good Wine?

Wine Spectator's 100 point Scale Explained

*95-100 points: Classic wine, the finest

*90-94 points: Outstanding, A wine with Superior qualities

*85-89: Very Good- A wine with special qualities

*80-84 points: Good, a solid well-crafted wine

Wine Spectator Top 100 Wines of the Year

Every year Wine Spectator magazine publishes a list of the 100 finest wines they sampled and scored that year. Many of our wines appear on that list.

Those wines are noted on the list in red font stating which rank they received. Wines are tasted and scored based on: color, nose, taste, finish, and the excitement factor experienced by the wine professionals that rank them.

They are always tasted next to other similar wines for comparison.

Food and Wine Pairings

There is no finer way to compliment an amazing meal than to pair it with the perfect wine. While food and wine pairings are an art form, here are my quick tips to selecting a perfect pairing:

1. Food and wine did not magically appear in the same geographic regions, they grew together. So pair Italian wines with Italian food! This is an easy way to start.
2. Similar flavors and intensity. A light fish can be accentuated beautifully by a light bodied white wine. Perhaps a Sauvignon Blanc, with its natural citrus aromas would be a perfect choice. We think about putting lemon on fish, so a white wine with citrus aromas is perfect. A heavy steak needs a heavy red wine such as Cabernet Sauvignon, Zinfandel, Barolo, Brunello di Montalcino, Bordeaux etc. Leaner meats such as lamb or veal pair nicely with leaner red wines. While the tannin (natural astringent feeling that you experience on the roof of your mouth, not a flavor) eases the fatty nature of beef, it can overwhelm the flavors of leaner meat. So leaner meat, leaner wine- try a Malbec or Merlot!
3. Is there a sauce involved? Ottavio goes to great lengths to describe his dishes and specials on the menu. If he says “prepared in a Pinot Grigio sauce” stick to Pinot Grigio! If it says a “Burgundy Wine sauce” stick to Pinot Noir. If it says a creamy sauce I suggest a buttery Chardonnay such as Shafer, Rombauer, or Valdez. If it’s a pasta dish with marinara – again think Italian food, Italian wine! You cannot go wrong with these basic principles.

My Favorites?

While people ask me every day what is your favorite wine, that is a little like asking who is your favorite child! But, with that in mind, here are some personal favorites of mine:

Keenan Chardonnay: Crisp, slightly buttery and luscious. 55

Colomé Malbec- Rich aromas with dark fruit flavors and spice 35

Keenan Merlot- Hard to find, fruity, complex and elegant 60

Brochelle Syrah: like liquid velvet! A beautiful, smooth, earthy wine 65

Wine Wednesdays and Wine Events

If you are interested in learning about new wines, come back every Wednesday. Each Wednesday I select 3 red and 3 white wines that we do not normally carry and offer them to you by the glass or by the bottle at retail price! I try to select grapes and regions that are off-the-beaten-path. We offer a tasting event one Thursday of each month as well.

Station Square Wine List

My goal is to offer a selection of wine that is both focused on and balanced with the international cuisine we have developed at Station Square. Rooted in my Piemontese heritage of Torino, Northern Italy, I continuously strive with my staff to bring refreshing updates for our guests to choose from. Our wines are priced at or near state minimums to assure accessibility by the widest range of customers. We offer a wide spectrum of international wines and hope everyone will enjoy them with us on their many return visits.

Thank you for your patronage. Ottavio Musumeci
Owner/Executive Chef

We are thrilled to offer glasses of a select list of high-end wines by the glass. Using the latest in CORAVIN technology we can pour single glasses of wine without removing the cork. Wines stay fresh forever using this system.

Enjoy a glass of:

Frank Family Chardonnay $15.00 glass

Meeker Handprint Merlot $20.00 glass

Cakebread Cabernet $25.00 gl.

Tomassi Amarone $25.00 glass
